The screenshot displays the 'Card Order' page on a mobile application. The page is titled 'Order Details' and contains several form fields for entering order information. The fields are organized into a grid-like structure. The first row includes 'Product' (Blouse), 'Model' (Normal), and 'Measurements' (Sample). The second row includes 'Quantity' (1) and 'Remarks' (Testing Garmentsapplication). Below these, there is a section for 'Update Remarks In Card' with a text input field 'Enter Remarks' and a yellow button with a plus sign. The third row includes 'Colour' (black) and 'Photo Model#' (Enter Model #). The fourth row includes 'Work Amount' (100) and 'Work Model Id'. The fifth row includes 'Sleeve Type' (Select Sleeve Type) and 'Front Neck Shape' (Enter Model #). The sixth row includes 'Cup Size' and 'H.Type'. The page is viewed on a mobile device, as indicated by the browser address bar showing 'localhost:7171/Admin/CardOrder' and the Windows taskbar at the bottom.
